

Mini Enterprise Book Sale

This half term we have set up a mini enterprise lunch club. Pupils got together and decided that they would like to open a shop/stall with in school selling stationery.

During our second meeting it was unanimously agreed that our mini enterprise would be called Stationery Station.

Pupils were tasked with thinking of ways we could make money in order to start buying stock for Stationery Station. They looked at various ideas, such as cake sales etc. but eventually decided on a second hand book sale.

They went about asking for donations from other pupils, staff, family and friends. Donations were slow at first but once we had put a plea out on social media the donations came in thick and fast, Mrs Corrall could hardly get into her office it was so full of books!!!!

On the morning of Friday 16th November during open day the pupils set up their stall. They all worked incredibly hard and their efforts paid off by raising a fantastic £81.80.

This money will now be invested back in to the mini enterprise.
